The Protest Expresses Approval of the Acts of the Supreme Officer.

Subordinate Branch Bonds and Their In-sufficiency.—Why Mr. Somerby Re-fused to Accept a Large Offer to Leave the Iron Ball.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 16.-It developed Monday that petitions are being circulated among the membership of the subordinate branches, Order of Iron Hall, entering a protest against the appointment of a receiver upon the application of any three members and requesting the supreme sitting and the supreme officers to present such a protest to the court having the case in hand.

The test also expresses approval of the acts of the supreme officers and of the laws relating to sick, death and endowment benefits and the collection of assessments for paying the same, and the supreme officers are requested to make a vigorous defense in the litigagation now pending to the end that the order, in its social, fraternal and benevolent relations, may be preserved.

Another matter developed Monday of general interest. Certain officers of the local branches under the laws are compelled to give bond, and a circular has come to light in which the supreme sitting cautions the subordinate branches that many of these bonds are insufficient. The supreme sitting also claims to have made a careful examination of the Pailadelphia bank, and it notifies the subordinate branches that the bank is in good condition to furnish security for local officers, and that the supreme sitting will accept the guarantees of the bank on such bonds. Under the law the branches have control of their own reserve fund, the supreme sitting having power to draw one seventh annually. Many of the branches have turned over the entire fund to the supreme sitting rather than take the responsibility of keeping it. The Haughville branch has $3,500 deposited in that way.

Tuesday its trustees will make a demand for the return of the money, failing in which suit will be brought. Other branches would take similar action but for the reason that the application for a receiver having been made this puts all funds subject to order of court. It is said by Somerby's friends that he was once offered $25,000 yearly salary by an old line insurance com-pany if he would drop the Iron Hall and take up life insurance. Mr. Somerby is said to have declined because it would have ruined his reputation had he turned around and fought the organization he had spent so much time and oratory in building up.

THE AGONY IS OVER.

What We May Expect Between This Time Mason Democrats Send an Uninstructed Delegation to Catlettsburg.

MOTION TO INSTRUCT FOR COLE LOST.

A Noisy and Turbulent Convention .- Harmony. Sweet Harmony, the Plaintive Cry.

The much talked of and anxiously looked for convention met yesterday afternoon at the Courthouse. Not in several years have the Democrats of Mason county been so stirred up as they have been over the Appellate race. The opposition to the candidacy of Judge A. E. Cole, though seemingly small at first, grew in numbers and spread in proportions until it became a formidable army.

To have one's own county arrayed against him in a contest, where county pride generally coerces personal feelings is somewhat singular even in politics.

Judge Cole's friends presented a strong minority, and the howlers at the convention were in force and good voice, but the majority of the delegates were for some other man.

The convention was anything but a love feast. The speeches made were full of firery looks and words and angry ges-tures, and yet the old Democratic chestnuts of "free speech" and "harmony" were worked for all there was in them. At times the crowd was very turbulent, the chairman almost losing control. Time and again some one would arise to speak only to be howled downs

From the noise and confusion the folowing was gleaned: Chairman J. N. Kehoe of the County Committee called the convention to order and took occasion to make a pathetic plea for harmony. He then declared nominations in order for Chairman.

R. M. Marshall of Sardis placed A. P. John J. Perrine of Maysville nominated ex-Senator E. L. Worthington. It was then realized that no credentials had been handed in and the roll of pre cincts was called for that purpose. All The Southern Landlord Had Heard of responded except Murphysville. There "Them Fellers" Before. was a contest in Dover that caused a heap of trouble, all on account of Jerry Groves. Jerry is a popular fellow, but he was not wanted in that delegation and he did not get in. There were charges and counter charges of irregularity in the precinct meeting held at Dover last Saturday, and the trouble was finally quieted for the time being only to break out afresh further on.

The roll of precincts was again called to record the vote for Chairman. The result was 20 10-21 for Worthington and 18 10-21 for Gooding, but before it could be announced T. M. Wood moved that the election of E. L. Worthington be made unanimous, which was carried with a whoop-in the interest of harmony, "you know.

Messrs. Perrine and Wood were appointed a committee to escort Mr. Worthington to the chair. He made a speech and of course urged harmony. M. F. Marsh, G. W. Oldham and A.

mattersettled by committee on Credentials consisting of one from each precinct. J. L. Whitaker got up but was howled down before he got a chance to say anything. He tried it again but the boys would not have it. J. J. Perrine finally made him-self heard and seconded Mr. Wood's mogrand larceny was not ready for trial and tion. It then turned out that this was his case was continued until 2 o'clock this precisely what Mr. Whitaker wanted to do and all the racket and fuss was for

The motion prevailed and the roll of precincts was again called, each one naming their own member of the Credentials Committee which was made up as follows: Maysville No. 1, T. M. Wood; No. 2, J. L. Whitaker; Dover, J. N. Wilson: Minerva, William Broshears; Ger mantown, A. H. Browning; Sardis, H. N. Pyles; Mayslick, A. P. Gooding; Lewisburg, James B. Key: Orangeburg, John Peters: Washington, B. D. Owens: Fern Leaf, Harry Bergoyne: Chester, C. Dietrich; Helena, A. H. Calvert.

The Committee retired to Judge Phister's office for deliberation, and the intervening half hour until their return was spent in vain calls for a speech from some of the leading lights of the local Democracy, none of whoth, however, had the temerity to respond.

The Committee on Credentials handed in their report, with the names of the delegates, but Jerry was not in it, probably for the sake of harmony. Dover was entitled to 2 votes in the convention and there were 8 delegates present. Of these 5 were on one side and 3 on the other of the only issue, that of the candidacy of Judge Cole, with the majority opposed to the Judge.
J. J. Perrine then moved that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to select delegates to the Catlettsburg Convention.

A. P. Gooding moved as an amendment that one from each precinct, to be named states. by that precinct, be appointed on the Committee on Delegates. made a spirited speech in favor of the amendment. During his remarks he paid the worthy Chairman a, perhaps not intended, very high compliment by comparing him to ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed of the House of Representatives. Mr. Marshall was there in the interest of his constituents, and demanded that he be heard as their representative. Of course he also wanted harmony. The question was asked for by Mr.

Perrine and the call of precincts de manded. When Dover was reached there was another short bitch. Her vote was finally recorded 1‡ aye and ‡ no. The result was 16 5-12 aye, 22 5-12 no The previous question was then put and carried before T. M. Wood had time to

"Didn't you ever hear of minstrels, my dear sir? Elegant first part, sitting around in a semicircle on red plush chairs, orchestra on an elevation in the background, all of 'em blacked up and covered with diamonds, singing funny songs, etc."

'Oh! that's what meenstrels is, eh?" Then Dover and Jerry Graves came to as his face lighted up. "I've seen 'em the front again. T. M. Wood wanted the afore. All right, I can take 'em. John!" shouting to the hotel factotem across the room, "there's another lot of them 'ere blackened troopers a comin', so I guess you'd better go and cook up some o' them stopper corks."

Terrible Results of Carelessness in Opening a Switch

On the Toledo, Walhounding and Ohic Railroad Near Coshocton.

Gravel-pit Workmen Dashed Into a Big Lot of Empty Bailroad Cars and Siz of Them Ground to Death—Four-teen Injured—Two Will Die.

COSHOCTON, O., Aug. 16.-The Toledo, Walhonding Valley and Ohio railway, a branch of the Pennsylvania system now in course of construction, experienced its first horrible mishap Monday evening, six miles north of here, at a point known as Richeson's gravel pit. Six human beings were crushed to death and fifteen others horribly injured.

The list of killed is as follows: Frank Galli, an Italian, aged 44 years, head crushed; William Rafferty, aged 50, head crushed; John Barry, of Newburg, O., aged 50, head crushed; Joseph Bycroft, of Eurlington, Vt., aged 28, throat torn and body crushed; John Halliger, head crushed and disemboweled, aged 50; John Flynn, aged 25, back broken.

The following are the injured: Frank Hughes, aged 85, head crushed, will die; Wm. O. Toole, Portsmouth, Ohio, aged 20, injured in abdomen; John Hagans, Charleston, S. C., aged 33, injured in head and legs crushed; Pat Connors, Canton, Ohio, 23, injured in head, and breast and collar bone broken Martin Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa., aged 45. injured in the hip and back; John Zeigler, aged 23, hurt in the head and side; James Riley, aged 50, contusion of hip, has been a track layer for the past sixteen years; Patrick O'Brien, aged 74, of Akron, O., skull fractured, will die; Hugh Morrison, Altoona, Pa., aged 46, hurt in the head and back; Patrick Costello, aged 65, left foot crushed: Morris Collins, aged 45, of Allegheny City, Pa., terribly bruised on head! John Erickson, a Swede, aged 38, feet crushed; Patrick Roach, aged 51, crushed arm and shoulder; Michael Mulahhy, of Red Barrington, Mass., aged 25, contusion of shoulder and side: Henry Long, aged 40, leg wrenched.

The cause of the horrible mishap is briefly as follows: A construction train in charge of Conductor Humphrey and Engineer Clyde White has been engaged in hauling gravel from the pit. The killed and injured were engaged in ballasting the roadway at a point three miles north of the pit. Monday evening, after the last train had been unloaded, the men boarded the cars that were being pushed ahead of the engine to come to their boarding camp, a few hundreds yards south of the gravel pit.

The train was running at a hazardous speed, and when it arrived at the gravel pit, which was to be passed without stopping, the switch was open and the train entered the siding and collided with some empty cars standing in the pit. The greater number of the workmen were seated on the first and second cars, and when the long train turned in upon the spur had no opportunity to jump. Ten of the cars were piled in a mass of debris, and beneath this the poor mortals were crushed. It required two hours to extricate some of the dead and injured. A number of Italians employed on the work were attending services at the Catholic church Monday in this city, otherwise the list of fatalities would have been largely increased. The men were in the employ of Mc-Arthur Bros., contractors, and when Superintendent Wells was asked for the cause of the accident he said somebody left the switch open. The camp to which the dead and injured were brought Monday night presents the scene of a battle-field. Under one tent the six bodies taken from the wreck are lying side by side, and from the adjoining tents the moans of the wounded and dying could be heard. Rev. Father J. M. Jacquett, of this city, was summoned, and he administered the last sacraments of the Catholic church to Frank Hughes and Patrick O'Brien, who are in a dying condition. All the physicians of the city and neighboring villages are upon the ground, rendering aid to the suffers.

Coroner Miller began an inquest to determine the cause by which the unfortunates came to their death Monday
